General remark:

“AI” = technologies based on algorithms, data, and AI technology is not a “byproduct” of societies, not accidental, but the shaping of reality

Trustworthy AI is not a “recipe” ready for sale

it needs to be understood and developed by people people with various expertise – different fields of knowledge

Three foundational aspects of trustworthy AI

Technical robustness

Legal conformity

Ethical acceptance

Challenges of trustworthy AI

- (1) global research and development VS. in many cases: particular regional applications
- (2) mismatch between general/high-level guidelines AND case specific implications
- (3) AI=general purpose technology VS. domain-specific problems
- (4) taking into account the entire AI life cycle
[design | development | deployment | monitoring | decommissioning]
- (5) being more substantial than a mere checklist VS. not getting lost in abstract/theoretical discussions or too subject specific details

Proactive Public Services in the Euregio – EUTRAIL kick-off | 13 December 2024 | unibz

→ no one-fits-all-solution

→ careful and well orchestrated process

→ affiliation with the Z-Inspection® initiative
(OECD approved / ca. 40 labs worldwide)

What are the main ideas and purposes of EUTRAIL?

Proactive Public Services in the Euregio – EUTRAIL kick-off | 13 December 2024 | unibz

- Understand and support the development of trustworthy AI
- Particular focus on the European Region Tyrol - South Tyrol - Trentino
- “Real world problems” and concrete case-studies
- Third party assessment provider (Academia, Public and Private Sector)
- Regular meetings
- Education and dissemination (e.g. Euregio Summer School)
- General and project related financing
- Documentation and network platform
